PARLEY SOUGHT IN MADAGASCAR

GOVERNOR'S REQUEST

WITH one French force trapped and forced to surrender in Northern Madagascar, and a British column within less than one hundred miles of Antananarivo, the capital, the French Governor-General, M. Armand Annet, yesterday broadcast a "cease fire" request, and announced that he was sending plenipotentiaries to seek negotiations with the British Commander.

The French surrender, according to Press Association and Reuter, followed a further successful coast landing in the Maromandia area, 175 miles south-west of the British-held base at Diego Suarez.

The French troops—General Platt, British Commander-in-Chief in East Africa, reports—were caught between this force and our column moving down from Ambanja further north. The column moving towards Antananarivo has apparently been delayed more by road blocks than by French opposition—described in the communiqué as "little"—and by Tuesday was approaching Andriba, less than 100 miles north of the capital.

The prospect of an early "peace" move hardened overnight with a hint contained in a message from M. Annet to Vichy, that French resistance was nearing its limits. German radio said yesterday that a discussion on the defence of French colonies is to be held in Vichy this week. General Nogues is expected to arrive from Morocco on Friday and other French North African military representatives are expected to participate in the talks.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

A broadcast from Madagascar, picked up in Port Louis, Madagascar, yesterday, gives the text of the statement issued by M. Annet, announcing his decision to sue for peace as follows:—

"This morning, at 10 o'clock, I addressed to the British General Commanding the following communication:—At a moment when your troops, despite our resistance at Diego Suarez and since, are confronted by the advance defences of the capital, where our soldiers and leaders are ready for the supreme sacrifice, I hold it my duty to address to you a request, before the final battle starts, to find means by which we can cease fighting with honour. I, therefore, ask you to receive the plenipotentiaries whom I propose to delegate, and to name the day, hour and place where their aeroplane may land.

BIGGER TEA RATION?

Following the announcement that Britain has purchased all surplus tea from India, Ceylon, and East Africa, it is hoped, the Irish Times learns, that the Eire tea ration may be increased, if all the tea bought is shipped and distributed.

The tea which Britain has bought will be allocated to the United Nations and neutral countries, and the hope that more tea will be available for this country is given further weight by the fact that Lord Woolton, British Minister of Food, said on Tuesday last that Britain had agreed to reduce its requirements to secure a fair distribution all round.

RUSSIANS HOLDING STALINGRAD

RED ARMIES ADVANCE ON TWO SECTORS

THE battle for Stalingrad continues with increased fury. There is no confirmation of the German claim that the city is being gradually occupied in hand-to-hand fighting, but last night's Soviet communiqué mentioned bitter battles on the north-western outskirts. According to Paris Radio heavy reinforcements are reaching the beleaguered defenders from across the Volga, and the Germans are also receiving substantial reinforcements.

Vichy Radio said this morning that German advance troops yesterday penetrated beyond the centre of Stalingrad and reached the western bank of the Volga.

In the Mozdok area and on the Leningrad front the Russians claim to have repelled strong German forces and to have captured important tactical points.

POSITION OF SOVIET ARMY GRAVE

LONDON, Wednesday.—A wireless commentator, broadcasting from Moscow to-night, said that west of Stalingrad, where a further Soviet withdrawal has been reported, "the position of the Red Army is grave. In addition to ceaseless headlong attacks by tank columns and infantry, the Germans keep sending behind the Soviet lines large groups of tommy-gunners to try to annex extra heights, and so disorganise communications. Most of these groups, however, are being scattered or completely encircled."—(Reuter.)

A German High Command report, broadcast to-night, stated:—"In the fortified area of Stalingrad violent street fighting is going on. Every house has been transformed into a barricaded nest of resistance. All desperate attempts by the enemy to loosen our iron ring and to break through have failed. "Blocks of houses turned into fortresses form strong points, complete with infantry weapons and heavy guns. German infantry and engineers are breaking down these fortifications bit by bit, and are advancing further into the city. In the southern town area German troops succeeded in breaking through another strong enemy position and gaining further ground."—(Reuter.)

Paris Radio stated: "Marshal Timoshenko has brought fresh reinforcements to the Stalingrad battle. "It is estimated that there are more than thirty divisions now in Stalingrad."—(Reuter.)

"GNAT CLOUDS"

Listeners in Britain heard a German front line reporter, broadcasting from the battle of Stalingrad, say that the German dive-bombers were employing a new deployment formation, called the "Gnat Cloud," for the continuous bombing of the city. The din of the battle was heard by many listeners, the whine of shells and the roar of masses of dive-bombers mingling in a temporarily deafening cacophony.—(Reuter.)

In a review of the Stalingrad situation broadcast by Moscow radio to-day, Colonel Vassiliev said that in the past four months Red Army forces on all sectors of the front had routed 73 enemy divisions, including 13 tank divisions and smashed the batteries of 21 others. The original German plan, he said, was to break through first to Stalingrad and then to Astrakhan, but the Germans sustained very heavy losses in the Don bend and only succeeded in crossing the river after concentrating at least 25 infantry divisions, including seven tank divisions and more than 1,000 aircraft.

"In the steppes between the Don and the Volga the enemy first made a thrust to the north-west, but encountering powerful resistance swerved to the area north-east of Stalingrad, while other troops advanced on Stalingrad from the south-west. In this sector big striking forces succeeded in reaching the outskirts of the city. Last week these forces started an immediate offensive, but had been forced back with the loss of thousands of men. Baulked of a decisive success north-west and south-west of Stalingrad the Germans started to attack the defences directly west of the city. In certain sectors the Germans were making slow headway, but every inch of ground called for fresh enemy forces, and on these heavy inroads had already been made."—(Associated Press.)

SOVIET SUCCESSES

Reuter's Moscow correspondent says:—"Bitter fighting continues in the Caucasus, though the German threat to the Grozny oilfields seems to have lessened. In one battle in the Mozdok area the Germans used 69 tanks in a vain attempt to penetrate the Soviet defences. In this area the Soviet Air Force seem to have at least as many 'planes as the Germans, who are concentrating every machine they can spare in the struggle for Stalingrad. Two villages recaptured by the Russians control the railway line running from Piatygorsk through Mozdok and along the left bank of the Terek to the Caspian Sea. The Soviet force on the south bank has the use of the railway running through Grozny from Makhach Kala, on the Caspian Sea. Not only are the Russian troops in the Mozdok area barring the road to Grozny, but also the military highway running south from Ordzhonikidze to Tiflis."

SOVIET COMMUNIQUE

MOSCOW, Wednesday—To-night's Soviet communiqué states:—"During September 16 our forces engaged the enemy in fierce fighting on the north-western outskirts of Stalingrad and in the area of Mozdok. On September 15 Soviet air units destroyed or damaged ten German tanks and armoured cars, about 70 lorries with troops and war material and 20 trucks with ammunition, silenced 13 field and A.A. batteries, and dispersed and partly annihilated about five companies of enemy infantry."

The supplement states that heavy engagements were fought by Soviet troops on the north-western outskirts of Stalingrad, and in one sector a regiment of Rumanian infantry was routed. In another sector about a battalion of German infantry was wiped out. In the Mozdok area Soviet troops delivered counter-blows against German forces on the southern bank of the river, and captured inhabited points of considerable tactical importance. In the Sinyavino area (Leningrad front) Soviet troops, overcoming enemy resistance, captured fortified points.

BRITISH LOSSES AT TOBRUK

TWO DESTROYERS SUNK

A British Admiralty report last night stated:—

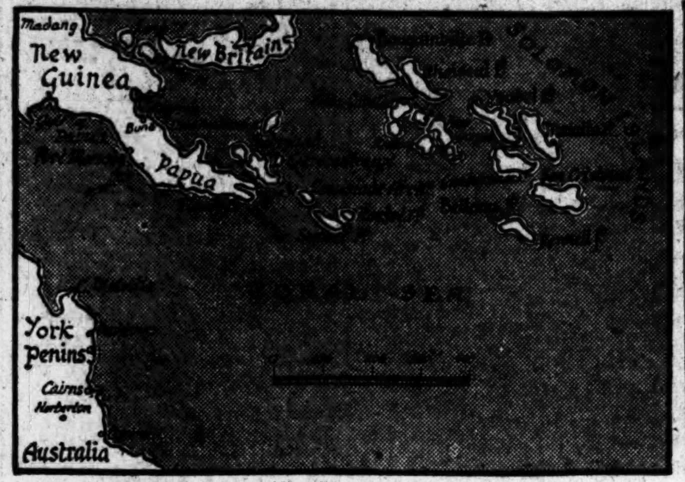
"The Board of Admiralty regrets to announce the loss of H.M.S. Sikh (Captain St. J. A. Micklethwaite, D.S.O., R.N.) and H.M.S. Zulu (Commander R. T. White, D.S.O., R.N.) in the recent operation off Tobruk. The majority of the officers and men of H.M.S. Zulu have been saved. H.M.S. Sikh was in close proximity to Tobruk at the time she was sunk, and it is hoped that many survivors have reached the land safely. The next-of-kin will be informed as soon as information is received."

The Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders and the Royal Northumberland Fusiliers are mentioned as having taken part in the British landing at Tobruk, in a message from a special correspondent of the official Italian News Agency at Tobruk, quoted by Rome Radio yesterday, says Reuter. "The British command had for months selected troops for this action," the message stated. "They chose troops who had already taken part in the defence of Tobruk, and were well acquainted with the terrain.

"During the whole of the fighting and during the retreat of the remaining enemy naval units the Air Force attacked the ships and inflicted heavy losses on the British Fleet. Among the four British destroyers sunk are the Sikh and the Zulu."

BELFAST BY-ELECTION

There will be a three-cornered contest in the election for the Falls Division of Belfast in the Northern Ireland House of Commons. The vacancy was caused by the death of the Nationalist, Alderman Byrne, who had a majority of 667 votes in the last election. Mr. Eamonn Donnelly, who was M.P. for South Armagh in 1925, and also had a seat in the Dail, has announced that he will contest the seat. The Nationalists intend to nominate a candidate, and the West Belfast Labour Party will nominate Mr. John Glass.



FIGHTING IN SOLOMONS AND ALEUTIANS

MANY JAPANESE SHIPS SUNK OR DAMAGED

UNITED STATES forces are fighting defensive battles in the Solomons, where the Air Force has damaged two Japanese cruisers. In attacks on the Japanese-held Aleutian Islands many Japanese vessels were sunk or damaged.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday.—A U.S. Navy Department communiqué says to-night: United States Marines are holding Guadalcanal Island, in the Solomons, against all Japanese attacks.

The communiqué runs:—"South Pacific—The intensity of the fighting on Guadalcanal is decreased, and the Marines are still holding their positions. The Marines' patrols continue active. On September 15 two heavy Army bombers—Boeing Flying Fortresses—attacked shore installations at Rekata Bay, on the north-west coast of Santa Isabel Island. Fires were observed as a result of this bombing.

"On September 16 Navy and Marine Corps dive-bombers attacked Japanese cruisers and destroyers south of Choisful Island. One cruiser was damaged by a torpedo and a second by bombs."—(Reuter.)

ATTACK ON KISKA

WASHINGTON, Wednesday—A U.S. Navy Department communiqué to-night said:—"On September 14th two army pursuit 'planes, accompanied by one army heavy bomber, made a strafing attack on enemy ships, aircraft and shore installations at Kiska Harbour, in the Western Aleutian Islands. A four-engined flying-boat is believed to have been destroyed on the water and many casualties both aboard the ships and on shore are reported.

"On September 14th a large group of army heavy bombers, accompanied by army pursuit 'planes, bombed and strafed the same objectives at a low level. The enemy attempted to repel this attack with planes and weak anti-aircraft resistance. The attack resulted in the following damage to the enemy:—Two mine-sweepers sunk; three large cargo ships damaged by bombs; three submarines and several small craft damaged by bombs and machine-gun fire; storehouses and supply dumps in the camp area set on fire by repeated attacks; four Zero fighters and one small 'plane shot down; one large patrol 'plane destroyed on the water.

"It is estimated that 500 troops were either killed or wounded. No United States 'planes were lost as a result of enemy action."—(Reuter.)

U.S. NAVAL LOSSES AT MIDWAY

WASHINGTON, Wednesday.—The Navy Department announced to-day that the U.S. aircraft carrier Yorktown and the destroyer Hamman were sunk in the Midway naval battle.

The communiqué states that the Yorktown was put out of action by attacks with bombs and torpedoes on June 4.

"After noon on June 6 an enemy submarine scored two torpedo hits amidships of the Yorktown and two torpedo hits on the Hamman. The Hamman sank shortly afterwards, and the condition of the Yorktown became hopeless. The submarine was attacked by destroyers throughout the day. The results of these attacks indicated that the submarine was certainly damaged and possibly sunk."

TILLAGE IN 1943

ONE QUARTER OF ALL ARABLE LAND

ONE-QUARTER of the arable land of the State on farms comprising five or more acres will have to be put under tillage next year, and, should the emergency continue, Irish farmers will be compelled in 1944 to cultivate not less than one-third of the arable land on each holding.

A new Order relating to compulsory tillage in 1943 which will be made by the Government shortly will have the effect of considerably increasing the tillage area next year by reducing the level of holdings to which it will apply from 10 acres to five.

Prices for the 1943 harvest will be unchanged, with the best wheat at 50s per barrel; barley at 35s., and oats at from 21s. to 25s. 8d. per barrel.

MINISTER'S POWERS

Under the new Order an occupier of a holding may be required by the Minister for Agriculture to carry out his tillage quota on a specified position of his holding, and he may further be required to sow in wheat the whole or any specified proportion of his tillage quota on a specified portion of his holding.

The Minister also has under consideration the taking of powers which would enable him, immediately after the making of the Order, to enter on holdings not cultivated last season and on those farms of which possession was taken during 1942, where early action is necessary to obtain proper cultivation. Should it become necessary to compel cultivation of one-third of the arable land on every holding in 1944, first crop grass will be regarded as compliance with the Order to the extent of not more than quarter of the quota, provided that tillage crops other than grass are produced on the balance of the quota.

FERTILISER PRICES

A special price concession in the purchase of fertilisers to farmers who grow wheat next year is being given by the Minister. It has been decided, apart from any general land fertility or improvement scheme which may be in operation after the emergency, that farmers who grow wheat in 1943 will be given special delivery vouchers by licensed wheat dealers and millers to whom they sell their wheat which will entitle them to a special price reduction in the cost of fertilisers equivalent to 2s. 6d. for every barrel of wheat delivered. The price reduction will not operate until after the emergency, when fertilisers again will be available in quantity.

SEED TESTING

To prevent losses due to the poor germination of seed, Irish wheat-growers will this year have remarkable facilities afforded them by the Department of Agriculture. At each of 80 vocational schools throughout the country, seed grown by farmers, and intended for sowing on their own land, will be tested free of charge under a scheme which will be in operation early in October.

Announcing the plan in a radio talk on the treatment of seed wheat last night, Mr. T. O'Connell, Chief Inspector, Department of Agriculture, said that at each school a qualified rural science instructor was employed, and the testing would be carried out in the presence of the pupils and with their assistance, and it is hoped that the farmers' sons in attendance will, in another season, undertake the job on their own behalf, with the very simple equipment that is required.

This season it will be illegal for merchant or farmer to sell wheat seed germinating less than 85 per cent.

INDIA'S HEAVY CASUALTIES

CONCILIATION URGED

NEW DELHI, Wednesday.—The Viceroy, it is understood, has rejected the application by the Hindu Mahasabha (Orthodox Hindus) that they should be allowed to discuss the political situation with Mr. Gandhi and other Congress leaders now under detention.

During the recent disturbances in India 658 people were killed and 1,003 wounded by the military and police. Sir Reginald Maxwell, Home member, announcing the list of casualties—which, he said, was still incomplete—to the Legislative Assembly this morning, said that 31 members of the police forces were killed and a very large number injured. The military had 11 killed and 7 wounded. Of civil officials, not including Postal and Telegraph departments and railways, 7 were killed and 11 injured.

New efforts to form a National Government were urged at Indore to-day in a joint statement by Sir Tej Sapru, the Indian Liberal Leader, and Mr. Jayaker, representative of the Non-Party Group.

TO WIN THE WAR

When the Legislative Assembly resumed the general debate on the situation in India, Opposition members indicated their desire to resist the Japanese, but claimed that to do so effectively the sympathy of the people of India must be enlisted.

While the disturbances were quoted by the Government as an argument for keeping the Congress leaders in detention, the Opposition presented them as a case for release and thus re-establishing confidence in the country.

Mr. Zafarali, member of the Moslem League, said, in a fighting speech: "Japan is hammering at our gates, and I would not be surprised if she bombed Calcutta when the rainy season is over. Axis troops are just on the other side in Egypt. India can only be saved by our own efforts. "If Mr. Gandhi had been out of prison," he added, "the disturbances would not have taken place. They are not sporadic outbursts, but a revolution all over India." He urged the British Government to take action to conciliate Indian opinion.

Mr. Joshie, representing Labour, declared: "If the war is to be won it must be won with the support of the people."

Mr. Jamnadas Mehta (Independent, and formerly a Congress Party member) stated that the workers of India were definitely in favour of the war. "But people must be made to feel that they are participating," he added.—(Reuter.)

£5,000 COMPENSATION CLAIM

A compensation claim for £5,000 was lodged yesterday with the Dublin Corporation on behalf of the widow and children of Detective-Sergeant Denis O'Brien, who was murdered by armed assailants while leaving his home at Ballyboden, Co. Dublin, by car on Wednesday, September 9.

TOWN CLERK SUSPENDED

Mr. T. A. Hayes, Westmeath County Manager, has suspended Mr. Michael J. Garahy, Town Clerk and Legal Adviser to Athlone Urban Council, and has appointed Mr. Francis Donnelly, an official of the County Council, as Acting Town Clerk of Athlone.

92 MACHINE GUNS FOUND IN MAYO

SENTENCES OF TEN AND SEVEN YEARS

THE discovery of big arms dumps in County Mayo, comprising 92 Thompson sub-machine guns — most of which were in serviceable condition—Mills bombs and rifle ammunition, was disclosed yesterday, when two men were sentenced by the Special Criminal Court in Dublin to terms of penal servitude for having the arms under their control.

Sentence of ten years was imposed on Edward Joseph Gallagher, Sonnagh, Charlestown, Co. Mayo, and sentence of seven years was imposed on Michael Geraghty, Bohola, Kiltimagh, Co. Mayo.

"A MINOR ARSENAL"

Mr. Joseph McCarthy, K.C., with whom was Mr. George Murnaghan (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor) for the State, said that Gallagher apparently had had under his control a minor arsenal which constituted an obvious danger and a menace to society and the existence of the State.

According to the evidence, when the fence bordering the farm on which Gallagher lived was searched by Civic Guards, a tree-trunk was found lying across a cavity which was under some boards in a ditch from which the Guards had removed some sods and earth. The Guards then saw some boxes, from one of which Thompson machine-guns protruded. The dump contained 64 Thompson guns, 14 butts for the guns, 14 ammunition drums, 55 magazines, 18 Mills bombs, 200 bomb caps, 109 rounds of ammunition, a number of instruction books on the use of Thompson guns, and cleaning cloths.

1940 AMMUNITION

A round of .303 rifle ammunition was, it was stated, found in an outhouse at Gallagher's residence; it was of 1939 manufacture. Copies of "War News" with a date in 1941, and a copy of the alleged confession of Stephen Hayes were, it was said, also found in the dug-out.

A ballistics expert stated that the ammunition had been issued in July 1940. Fifty-nine of the machine-guns were in good serviceable condition, but on several the numbers had been defaced. They all were of the 1921 model.

28 THOMPSON GUNS

Michael Geraghty, Bohola, Kiltimagh, County Mayo, who was found guilty of having had control of 28 Thompson sub-machine-guns with intent to enable another person or persons to endanger life or cause serious injury to property, and of being a member of an unlawful organisation, was sentenced to seven years' penal servitude.

It was stated that three Thompson guns were found in a motor car, in the back of which Geraghty was driving, at one o'clock on the morning of July 11th last, at Bohola; and that in a disused house at Johnsford, Swinford, to which he had access, were found 25 Thompson guns, 18 ammunition pans, and a number of instruction books.

A Civic Guard Superintendent said that Geraghty had stated that the three guns found in the car had been given to him eight months ago by a man whose name he did not want to disclose, and that the other guns had come into his possession over a year ago by reason of his membership of a certain organisation.

FUEL AND LIGHT IN EIRE

WINTER PROSPECTS

COUNTRY folk are likely to be much better off than city people during the coming winter, writes an Irish Times reporter.

Whether or not war-time conditions will eventually have the effect of restricting the flight from the land, it is virtually certain that the rural areas, with, in most parts, an abundance of fuel for the gathering, a gallon of paraffin in each household every month, and a fairly steady, if slow, supply of candles to supplement the kerosene, will be much more comfortable than the towns and cities.

Even in the provincial towns the standard of comfort will be higher than that obtaining in Dublin, turf and timber being more accessible, while gas can be used more extensively, because in the smaller gas undertakings in the provinces resort can be had to timber and turf and breeze to replace coal.

DUBLIN CITY

In 40,000 Dublin households there will be gnashing of teeth, if not weeping and wailing over the shortcomings of gas and the scarcity of fuel. There is no prospect of an improvement in the gas-hours in the city, but there is every danger of a deterioration in the position, which will demand greater pace in the race to "catch the gas."

It now is virtually certain that supplies of coal for domestic purposes will not be available during the winter, and the citizens will have to manage as best they can on turf and logs, which are likely to be in good supply. In hundreds of instances where householders relied upon gas for heating, they have installed grates. All current coal supplies are being diverted to the needs of industry and the railways, which now are supplementing their manufacture of briquettes by additional supplies from city firms. It was thought that supplies of these would be available for domestic consumption, but it is evident that the Great Southern Railways will absorb the full production of them.

U.S. PRESS ATTACHE

MR. R. WATTS FOR DUBLIN

One of America's leading dramatic critics, Richard Watts, of the New York Herald Tribune, arrived in Dublin yesterday to take up work as Press Attaché of the United States Legation. On his father's side, he is a grandson of a couple who left County Cork at the time of the famine and afterwards settled in West Virginia. At Columbia University, where he wrote the drama column for the University paper, he was very much interested in the Irish dramatic movement. He graduated to his job as dramatic critic of the Herald Tribune through a similar post on the Brooklyn Times, and a 12-year period as film critic of the Tribune.

Though generally the New York critics have been very warm friends of the Abbey Theatre on its American tours, Mr. Watts has distinguished himself by his sympathetic appreciation of its work. Typical of his comments was one he wrote during the Abbey 1938 American tour, when he described F. J. McCormick as having no superior as a character actor in the English-speaking theatre in any country. So well known is his enthusiasm for the Irish theatre that George Jean Nathan referred to it in a recent piece of gentle satire on his brother critics, under some such title as "How to Get Favourable Notices from the New York Critics."

The play writing recipe which, according to Nathan, is guaranteed to elicit a favourable notice from Mr. Watts, is one which starts with a solid chunk of Irish dialogue.

NOT A STRANGER

This is not Mr. Watts's first visit to Ireland. For some years past he has been in the privileged position of spending three or four months of every working year in travelling the world and sending back to his paper pieces of literary interest. On this mission he has turned up at intervals in all the world's capitals from Dublin to Nanking; he was in the Dutch Indies shortly before war broke out in the Far East.

During his stay in Ireland he hopes to renew his friendship with his old theatre friends. He hopes also to make the acquaintance of some of the newer dramatic writers. He is particularly interested in the work of Mr. George Shiels, which he admires very much.

RAID IN EAST ANGLIA

A few German raiders which crossed the coast and flew inland over East Anglia last night made a short, sharp attack in the neighbourhood of one town.

"NEW PHASE OF WAR"

"BREATHLESS MOMENT"

Mr. Oliver Lyttelton, British Minister of Production, who in July declared "In the next 80 days we shall face one of the gravest crises in our history," said at Sheffield yesterday: "Nineteen or twenty of these remain and at the end of that time the war definitely begins to enter into a new phase. We are approaching the breathless moment when, if Russia can hold on to her present positions for a few more weeks, the balance will begin to swing in our direction, and when the gathering forces of the greatest alliance which the world has ever seen are going to give us the first evidences of victory.

"Germany sees a ring already closing round her and is making desperate attempts to break out before it is too late, but with the gallant resistance of the Russians and our gathering forces Germany must feel that if she survives the icy grip of winter—the fourth winter of the war—it will only be to find herself surrounded in a ring of steel, part of which, thank God, will have been forged in Sheffield."

AVOCA'S WEALTH IN OCHRE

AN IRISH TIMES STAFF REPORTER.

INSTEAD of "There is not in the wide world a valley so sweet," the anthem of the Vale of Avoca may soon be replaced by Ariel's song, "Come unto these yellow sands." But "yellow" is a pale word for the rich warm orange of the ochre, the exploitation of which in a new way is an industrial development second in importance to the re-opening of the pyrites mines, described yesterday.

This ochre, as it lies by the roadside, near Avoca, seems very much the kind of stuff that ladies, all summer, have been buying at a shilling per small bottle and putting on their faces as sun-tan or on their legs as silk stockings. But its most important value is as a base for distempers and paints, and for use in colouring linoleum, cement, tiles, leather and wallpaper.

FORMER EFFORTS

Ochre mining in the Vale has had a chequered history. At two periods within the last fifty years ochre mills were erected—the latest being about fifteen years ago. But, possibly, because the initial expenditure was too elaborate, or international competition too keen, these mills were closed down and are now ruins. A few years ago mining of ochre began again by an English company, and it has been shipped in its crude state from Arklow. The new development is an attempt by two young Irishmen to set the ochre-milling industry going again. One is Dr. Hugh MacNicholl, who, a few months ago, was going around the Coombe, Dublin, with his doctor's bag, but has given up his practice for the moment to look after this new industry. With him in the enterprise is his brother, John, an electrical engineer. He showed me over the complete ochre industrial process. I saw it up on the mountain side, where it appears as a muddy precipitate in streams running from old mine workings. In these old shafts the iron in the rock has been turned into an oxide, which is ochre, and is washed down in streams. It passes into a series of dams, where the ochre is allowed to settle and the water to drain off. Then, in the shape of a rich "gooey" substance of orange hue, it is ochre in a crude form, but still, of course, containing a lot of moisture. It is in this form that the English firm exports it.

THE OLD MILL

The new enterprise, however, takes it in cart-loads down to what was, until the MacNicholls took it over, a derelict woollen mill, not far above the Meeting of the Waters. They cleaned out the weed-choked mill-race, put the wheel into working order, installed a kiln for drying the ochre, a grinder for crushing it into fine dust, and a sifter for taking out impurities. Production began about a week ago, and in a short period they hope to achieve an output of five tons a day, provided they can obtain additional equipment. This would not nearly be enough to fill the orders which are pouring in, but they prefer to go cautiously, hoping to build up, on solid foundations, an industry which will outlast the present emergency.

"VICTORY IS CERTAIN"

CHURCHILL TO CHINA

Mr. Churchill, in a message to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, says:—"I am deeply grateful for Your Excellency's message on the occasion of the third anniversary of the outbreak of war between this country and Germany. I welcome your tribute to our efforts, coming as it does, from the leader of a courageous and steadfast people, who have already withstood the onslaught of the Japanese aggressor for more than five years. Their resistance owes much, as the British people well know, to Your Excellency's resolution and unswerving loyalty to the cause of freedom, to which we have consecrated all our energies.

"With such a cause to inspire us, victory is certain, and when that day dawns, as dawn it will, the British people will be first to acclaim the Chinese as fellow-architects of victory."

CHARM IN IRISH LIFE

Mrs. LUCILLE O'MAHONY

Though nature has been more than kind to Mrs. O'Mahony in granting her exceptionally attractive hair and expressive brown eyes, perfect teeth and a beautifully oval face, her most striking feature is her lovely smooth and glowing skin. Mrs. O'Mahony is a competent artist specialising in black and white work. Out of doors her pastimes are riding, golf and (in happier days) skiing and motoring. A dog lover too, she is the proud possessor of prize winning bull dogs.

When interviewed regarding her beauty treatment she said that she found Pond's Vanishing and Pond's Cold Cream to give perfect protection and to keep the skin in perfect condition. Mrs. O'Mahony (herself a trained expert in beauty treatment) uses Pond's nightly method of 'five minutes before the mirror.' This is in brief as follows: Each night pat cold cream on the face, neck, hands and arms, the pure oils in this cream sink deep into the pores and float to the surface all the used powder, dirt and skin secretions, which are then wiped off with a Pond's Cleansing Tissue or a soft face towel.

For tyres and tubes other than Dunlop, the fixed maximum prices are:—Tyre, 10/-; Tube, 4/-.

Where appropriate, prices for smaller quantities must not be at a higher rate than the standard maximum rate. For instance, the price of ½ ton of turf in Dublin Co. Borough must not exceed 16/-.

It is illegal to sell or offer for sale any of these commodities at a price in excess of the appropriate price. The public are requested not to pay more than the price stated, and to report without delay any instance of attempted overcharging to the Department of Supplies, Ballsbridge, Dublin, so that proceedings can be instituted against the offenders.

Purchasers are reminded that they are now entitled by law to request from the seller a statement giving particulars of any purchase made. Where the price charged is in excess of the appropriate price, such statement should be obtained and forwarded to the Department as evidence.

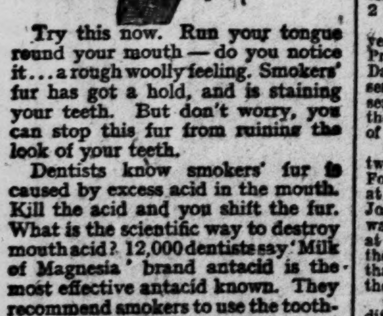
Purchasers are also reminded that it is illegal for a retailer to sell any of the above-mentioned commodities upon terms that the purchaser of such commodity shall, in addition to such commodity, purchase some other commodity, or pay for the rendering by the vendor of any service in connection with the commodity purchased or any other commodity.

September 17th, 1942.

JOHN LEYDON, Secretary.

Smokers' 'Fur'

How to detect it—How to prevent it.



Try this now. Run your tongue round your mouth — do you notice it ... a rough woolly feeling. Smokers' fur has got a hold, and is staining your teeth. But don't worry, you can stop this fur from ruining the look of your teeth.

Dentists know smokers' fur is caused by excess acid in the mouth. Kill the acid and you shift the fur. What is the scientific way to destroy mouth acid? 12,000 dentists say 'Milk of Magnesia' brand antacid is the most effective antacid known. They recommend smokers to use the toothpaste containing 'Milk of Magnesia' — the only toothpaste containing it — Phillips' Dental Magnesia.

Commence fighting mouth acid tonight. Get a tube of Phillips' Dental Magnesia and clean your teeth with it each night and morning. Then you'll feel the difference; no more morning mouth; no more stale breath. Instead you'll have teeth which look clean, feel clean, are clean; a sweet mouth to give new zest to smoking. A mouth that will say Good morning! and mean it.

PHILLIPS' DENTAL MAGNESIA

'Milk of Magnesia' is the trade mark of Phillips' preparation of Magnesia.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Motorist Fined.—At Kilmainham yesterday George Wardell, Leixlip, was fined £1, with 30/- expenses, for driving a motor car without due consideration at Chapelizod on July 9.

Rector Transferred.—The Rev. W. J. Ewart, who has been Rector at Easkey for many years, has been transferred to Ballina, and is being replaced by the Rev. Mr. Freeman.

Appointed Principal.—Mr. M. Lawlor, Dunmore, Co. Kilkenny, has been appointed Principal of Ballymurphy (Carlow) N.S. in room of Mr. M. Shaughnessy, retired.

Drunk in Charge of Cycle.—At Kilmainham yesterday James Geraghty, 22 Werburgh street, Dublin, was fined £4, with £1 expenses, for being drunk in charge of a bicycle at Palmerstown, Co. Dublin, on Sunday, August 9.

£15 for Tea Offences. — Patrick Blake, shopkeeper, Liscannor, Clare, was fined £15 at Ennistymon for making false statements in connection with stocks of tea, failing to keep records, and selling 2 ozs of tea for 8d.

Bicycle Parts Stolen.—At Kilmainham yesterday, before District Justice Burke, Private Matthew Power and Private John Davitt, of the Defence Forces, were each sentenced to one month's imprisonment, sentence to be suspended on their keeping the peace for twelve months, on a charge of stealing bicycle parts.

Cycle Traders Fined.—For offering two bicycle tyres at 27/6 each, Mary Forde, Cornmarket, Ballinrobe, was fined, at Ballinrobe, £5 in each case; and Joseph Gannon, Main street, Ballinrobe, was fined £7 in respect of tyres offered at 26/-. District Justice Coyne overruled the points raised for the defence, and held that the shopkeepers were responsible for their employés' actions.

Cork Harbour Board Surplus.—Expenditure of £33,619 and a net surplus of £456 were reported at Cork Harbour Board yesterday, when the accounts for the eight months ended August 31 were submitted. The adverse balance carried forward is thus reduced to £35,271. The Board decided to continue for October the existing 10 per cent. cut on salaries, wages and pensions.

TRIAL DATE FIXED

The Special Criminal Court, sitting at Collins Barracks, Dublin, yesterday, fixed the 25th inst. for the trial of Thomas Farrell, Croughwell, Co. Galway; Michael Horrigan, Cooga, Doon, Co. Limerick, and Eamon MacBride, Leix road, Cabra, Dublin.

Farrell and Horrigan are charged with having refused to give an account of their movements, and MacBride with having refused to give an account of his movements, and with possession of a firearm and ammunition without a certificate.

A MINISTER'S ABSENCE

CONGRESS CRITICISM

The absence of the Minister for Local Government, or a representative of his Department, was again raised at the annual conference of the Municipal Authorities of Ireland at the resumed sitting in the City Hall, Dublin, yesterday.

Mr. M. J. McGrath, Ballina, inquired if any reply had been received from the Minister or the Local Government Department in regard to the Minister's absence from the conference or one of his staff. "I think," he said, "unless we adopt some concrete protest we are simply wasting our time."

Mr. F. Phillips, Cashel, supported the protest.

Alderman Corish said that having made a dignified protest on the previous day they should not pursue the matter further.

The Chairman (Senator D. Healy) said he was personally responsible for having omitted to forward the protest the previous evening. The meeting terminated so late that the Department would have been closed.

LIFFEY WATER

In a paper on "The Liffey Water Supply Scheme," Mr. Norman Chance, the City Engineer, said that progress with the Liffey scheme since the beginning of the war had been slow, but a stage had now been reached when an emergency supply of unfiltered water could very quickly be sent to Dublin. The prospects of the completion of the whole scheme during the war were at the moment quite good, as priority was being given for the supply of cement and other material.

Mr. Chance, by plans and drawings, showed how the Liffey scheme would be brought to supply the North side of the city, while the Vartry scheme would supply the South side.

Mr. M. J. O'Rourke, Dun Laoghaire, submitted a resolution regarding the conversion of large houses into flats. There was, he said, no objection to proper conversion of those houses, provided the proposals were submitted to the Public Health Authority to prevent overcrowding; occupation of unhealthy basements; lack of proper or sufficient sanitary accommodation; inadequate provision for storage of food; serious increase of fire risks, and rapid deterioration of the whole property. Sanitary authorities at present had no adequate means of controlling these abuses.

It was decided to refer the matter to the Executive Committee.

The Conference adjourned until this morning.

CARELESS TRIPPERS

CAUSE OF HOWTH HILL FIRE

The fire on Howth Hill on Tuesday last, which caused extensive damage to gorse and heather on the Dublin side of the hill and threatened several houses at one time, is stated to have been caused by picnickers. Mr. Hugh Pack-Beresford, a resident of the district, told an Irish Times reporter yesterday that Mrs. Bellingham, of "The Cliffs," on Tuesday saw two young men taking fruit from her garden. She followed them along the cliffs, which is her husband's property, and saw them join a party of girls, who had started a fire. Mrs. Bellingham asked them to put out the fire, which was near the gorse, but they told her to mind her own business, and that they had as much right there as she had.

Mr. Pack-Beresford said that residents feel very strongly about the carelessness of trippers, who endanger this natural garden, and they have appealed to the Civic Guard to put a patrol on the area to prevent a recurrence of this destructive fire.

SALE OF BUTTER IN DUBLIN

All institutions and catering establishments, manufacturers, as well as traders, in the City and County of Dublin and the Urban District of Bray, will not be able to obtain butter after the 28th inst. without a permit, and in order to procure this they must be registered with the Department of Supplies.

The terms of the Order made by the Minister controlling the purchase and sale of butter appears this morning in our advertising columns.

FIRE-WATCHING IN DUBLIN

Compulsory "fire-watching" of Dublin premises is proposed in an Order which, it is believed, the Government will make in the immediate future.

This Order, an Irish Times reporter learned yesterday, will stand out in A.R.P. plans for the winter. The holiday season is coming to an end, and A.R.P. winter training will begin next month. Preparations are being made for exercises to be undertaken as soon as meetings can be arranged to consider the winter programme.

CHASE OVER ROOF-TOPS

How an officer of the L.S.F. chased a thief over the roofs from Bachelor's Walk to Liffey street was told yesterday to District Justice McCann in the Dublin District Court.

John Fitzgerald, Lower Gardiner street, Dublin, was sentenced to three months' imprisonment for stealing two coats from Messrs. Elvery, O'Connell street, Dublin. Fitzgerald was seen to run into Transport House, Bachelor's Walk.

William Wilkinson, clerk in Transport House and Assistant Section Leader, Dun Laoghaire District, Local Security Force, stated that he took up the chase of Fitzgerald through Transport House into Liffey street. He saw Fitzgerald from the roof of No. 25 Liffey street standing on the roof of No. 21. He told Fitzgerald he was a member of the L.S.F. and put him under arrest. Fitzgerald, however, jumped from the roof to a shed below. Witness followed and, catching Fitzgerald, held him until a Civic Guard arrived.

Guard D. Brennan, 174C, said that he found a missing coat at the back of Transport House.

Fitzgerald, in evidence, said that he and a man he only knew as "Lefty" went into Elvery's. When he saw "Lefty" pick up two coats witness got "panicky" and ran away. He never touched a coat, and knew nothing about it.

KITCHEN KETTLE 24/-

Far removed are the days of which the poet wrote: "I bought a kettle for 9d., and that was Irish, too." Nobody questioned the nationality of the kettle for which 24/- was paid on Tuesday at the auction at 4 Richmond avenue, Monkstown, conducted by Messrs. Battersby and Co., after they had sold the house on the previous day. The shortage of supplies has given a great fillip to prices at furniture auctions, and household equipment of all kinds is selling very well, and there was keen bidding for over 300 lots which came under the hammer. A small rubber door mat fetched 25/-.

Other notable prices (in guineas) were: Walnut bedroom suite, 96; Oak do., 50; bed settee, 12½; mahogany small bureau, 8½; "Ekco" radio, 14½; Japanese draught screen, 10; Chesterfield suite, 24; mahogany-case piano, "Windover," 54½.

FUNERAL

REV. J. T. FLEMING

The funeral of the Rev. John T. Fleming, minister for many years of Wicklow and Arklow Presbyterian Church, took place to Mount Jerome Cemetery yesterday after Service in Donore Presbyterian Church, Dublin. Rev. J. N. Thompson, Moderator of the Presbytery, assisted by Rev. T. Bole and Rev. J. S. Crockett, officiated at the church, and Rev. Dr. J. H. Irwin, assisted by Rev. J. N. Thompson, at the graveside.

The chief mourners were—Rev. T. Byers (brother-in-law); Rev. H. Byers (nephew); Mr. G. A. Miller (son-in-law). The attendance included—The Very Rev. R. K. Hanna, D.D.; Rev. R. K. Lyle, Rev. R. Montgomery, Rev. W. A. Hill, Rev. J. McCaughey, Mr. E. Logan, Messrs. T. Le Toler, T. E. McAdoo, J. F. McAdoo, A. W. Harty, T. Beck, H. J. Sumner, and W. J. Burns.

Curragh Programme

The programme of nine races arranged for the Curragh this afternoon is one of exceptional interest. There will be nine runners for the Irish St. Leger, but few will look beyond Windsor Slipper in their search for the winner.

The absence of The Phœnix from the field for the Anglesey Stakes makes that race a more open affair, and it likely will be won by Pontifex. Selections:—

Scurry Handicap—Power.
Harehill Plate—Berwick Abbey.
King's Plate—Tiverton.
Anglesey Stakes—Pontifex.
Irish St. Leger—Windsor Slipper.
Railway Stakes—Fabulous.
Turf Club Handicap—Buffalo Bill.
Nursery Handicap—H. M. Hartigan's selected.
Welter Handicap—Galopin.

Curragh Selections—1.30, Poolfix; 1.55, Pontifex; 2.25, Tiverton; 2.55, Battlefield; 3.30, Windsor Slipper 1, War Sleigh 2, Fort Osway 3; 4.15, Fabulous; 4.45, Radiologist; 5.15, Brehon Law; 5.45, Bearer Bond.

Tote doubles on third and fourth and seventh and eighth races.

LEINSTER CUP TIE ENDS IN DRAW

SHELBOURNE ... 1 DISTILLERY ... 1

The dullest game played at Shelbourne Park for a long time is an apt description of yesterday's Leinster Senior Cup-tie between Shelbourne and the holders (Distillery). It resulted in a draw of a goal each. After twenty minutes, from a penalty for handball against a Shelbourne back, Bagnall cut it too finely, and crashed the ball against the upright, and when Kennedy a few minutes later went through and netted he was clearly offside, having run yards forward as the free kick was being taken. It was from a corner kick that Scully equalised ten minutes from the interval.

There was not one thrill for the big crowd. Distillery, noted for their spirit and zeal, revealed none of it, and, while Shelbourne were much the cleverer and had lots the better of the play, their shooting was extremely bad. There was no finish to their forward play at any time, and for the greater part of the second half the ball was bobbing from head to head about the Distillery goal. Early in the second half Walsh, with a powerful shot, struck the Distillery crossbar, and the only other "incident" from that to the end was the failure of Cullen, Distillery's centre-forward, to put his side in front. He was clean through for a score, but with Daly well on his right he hit the post.

HERD'S DENIAL

Alex. Herd, the Manchester City inside-forward, touring with the British Army in Ireland, who was stated to have signed for Linfield, now says that he has not done so.

IRISH LEAGUE BEATEN

The British Army team beat the Irish League XI. 3-2 at Grosvenor Park, Belfast, last night. Rowley scored for the League three minutes after the start, and the lead was held to the interval, despite the fact that Cochrane was off for the last 20 minutes of the first half. Herd equalised, and, after Cochrane had put the Irish side in front again, Mullan and Brenner scored for the Army. Receipts, £700.

LONDON NOTES

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

The full report for the year ended June 30 last is now issued by Johannesburg Consolidated Investment Company. Profit figures of £533,749 and a 10 per cent. dividend on the capital of £3,950,000, all in £1 Ord. shares, have already been announced. Chief interest will now be directed to the balance sheet. This shows a particularly sound liquid position. There is cash at bankers and in hand for £1,689,736, against £1,270,208 previously. It also held at the end of the financial year £422,310 in South African Treasury bills. The value of its investments in stocks and shares has been raised in the latest balance sheet from £5,785,370 to £6,364,055. The reserve fund now totals £3,200,000, against an issued capital of £3,950,000. The company's investments are spread over gold, diamond, copper, platinum and coal.

ODEON THEATRES

Several cinema companies have, in the last few months, published profit figures showing a sharp improvement in war-time earnings. Odeon Theatres, of which Mr. J. Arthur Rank is chairman, announces profits of £1,530,539 for the year to June 27 last, against £643,287 previously. From the profit, no less than £1,100,000 is required for income tax and E.P.T. reserve. This is a substantial increase on the £325,000 allocated for this purpose a year ago. Ord. shareholders, however are to receive a 10 per cent. dividend for the year, after two years without distributions. The present dividend is the same as paid in 1939. The dividend takes only £43,750 of the year's profits. The directors allocate from the year's profits £134,640 for writing off preliminary expenses. This figure is non-recurring. There is also £55,000 going to war damage contributions and another £5,464 for A.R.P. expenditure.

MEETING PREF. ARREARS

Remarkable recovery has been seen in the fortunes of the famous Mazawattee Tea Company in the last few years. The last report, covering 18 months' trading to June 21, 1941, brought holders of the 5½ per cent. Cumulative Pref. share capital of £320,000, two years of dividend arrears up to December 21, 1938. Now the Pref. shareholders are informed that a further 2½ years of Pref. arrears will be paid on October 30, which brings payment up to June 21, 1941. In addition, they are to receive a further year's dividend to June 21 this year, so that the distribution will be up to date and synchronise with the end of the last financial year. This is not all. Holders of the 6/8 fully-paid Ord shares are to receive a 5 per cent. dividend for the year to June 21 last. This is their first distribution since 10 per cent. was paid for twelve months to December 21, 1933.

FOOD MARKETS

DUBLIN CATTLE MARKET.—Numbers on sale this week as compared with last—Beasts 2,550 (increase 58), sheep and lambs 5,864 (increase 142). There was a further increase in cattle supplies, with quality up to seasonal average. Prime bullocks continue a good trade, and the pick of heifers also fetched satisfactory prices after these sales slowed up, but market closed with a fair sell up inside late rates. Prime heifer cows were dearer on scarcity, and secondary sorts placed to better advantage. Few bulls were offered. Best heifers 55/- to 58/-, others 51/- to 54/-; prime polled bullocks 57/- to 60/-, horned 54/- to 57/-, rougher 49/- to 53/-; best cows 50/- to 53/-, secondary 45/- to 49/-, and lean sorts 37/- to 43/- per live cwt.

SHEEP AND LAMBS—The increased supplies gave a mixed gathering to draw upon, and sellers found no difficulty in placing the nicer qualities at firm rates, but the rougher sorts showed a weaker tendency without being quotably cheaper. Prime mutton 1/2 to 1/3, secondary 1/1 to 1/1½, best ewes 1/- to 1/1, others 11d. to 11½d. per lb., and lambs 45/- to 60/-, extra up to 74/- per head.

DAIRY CATTLE—Supplies totalled 267 head or 42 more than last week. Best cows and heifers found ready buyers, but small and doubtful beasts were slow to place at owners' ideas of values. Best cows and heifers £30 to £35, seconds £25 to £28, others £20 to £24 each.

PIGS—Light offerings totalled 455 head, most of which found buyers' marks early, and previous drop in values recovered at—Prime pork and bacon hogs 130/- to 140/-, sows 112/- to 115/- per cwt., slips and bonhams 45/- to 90/- each, according to condition.

EDINBURGH CATTLE.—No sale of live-stock, following restrictions due to foot-and-mouth outbreak at Tranent.

PROVISIONS.

DUBLIN FISH—On offer, 10 lots lobsters, 100 boxes herrings, 56 mackerel, 10 packages salmon and a fair amount from country senders. Demand good at—Salmon 1/6 to 3/9, soles, large 2/- to 3/5, slips 9d. to 1/7, turbot 1/6 to 2/5, brill 1/6 to 2/- per lb., lobsters 10/- to 41/- per 13, plaice 30/- to 146/-, dabs 20/- to 28/-, cod 95/- to 100/-, whiting 15/- to 73/-, ray 20/- to 46/-, herrings 20/- to 30/-, mackerel 9/- to 28/- and codling 50/- to 52/6 box.

DUBLIN VEGETABLE—Light supplies cleared early at—York cabbage large, 40/- to 50/-, small, 12/- to 31/- load, swedes 3/6 to 7/6 per cwt., lettuce 6d. to 2/-, marrows 3/- to 5/- doz., beet 1/- to 2/-, carrots 2/- to 4/- doz. bunches, parsnips 10/- to 12/-, onions 25/- to 35/- bag, scallions 1/- to 1/6 bunch, parsley 6d. to 1/- and mushrooms 6/- chip.

DUBLIN POTATO—Queens and Arran Chiefs 9/-, other sorts 8/- per cwt. ex store.

GRIMSBY FISH.—Lemon soles, plaice, dabs, 15/-; jumbo, gibber, medium and chat haddocks, cod, large and medium sprags, codling, all with heads on, 7/-; smoked haddocks, 14/6; smoked fillets, 18/3; smoked codlings, 14/6; smoked whiting, 14/6 per stone.

DUBLIN EXCHANGE

There was again a fair volume of business passing in Irish securities on the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday, and certain local industries made fresh headway on good support.

Home Government Funds held steady to firm, and the Third National Loan and 4 p.c. Land Bonds both tended higher. 3½ p.c. War Loan repeated 106, and Dublin 4½ p.c. 1955/77 added a fraction at 109.

Banks were well maintained, and Hibernians firmed up to 41/-. Guinness units, although closing above the worst, were yet a shade off at 102/9. Cairnes Ord. gained several pence at 19/6.

Home Rails were quietly irregular. Great Northern Ord. drooped to 22½, but Great Southern Pref. rose to 20½. Dublin Transport Ord., on strong buying reached the high level of 20/-.

Bolands Ord. spurted a further 5/- to 145/-, and E. J. Burke Deb. fetched 1/- higher at 94/-. Clondalkin Paper Ord. was actively dealt in and closed firm at 7/-.

May Roberts (Ireland) Ord. and Hugh Moore Ord. were both raised 1/- to 39/- and 3/- respectively, while Solus B Ord. advanced 3/- to 35/-. A number of other Irish industrials changed hands at steady levels.

British Industrials remained quiet and rather featureless. Ford Motors Ord. quoted 29/6, "Emmies" 17/9 and Hawker Siddeley Ord. 14/7½. Courtaulds Ord. shaded off to 38/1½.

OFFICERS OF RACING ASSOCIATION

The membership of the South and West of Ireland Racing Association is now well over one hundred. Its committee, we are informed, consider that the body has been looking after the interests of the South and West with credit, and it is hoped that, in co-operation with the Bloodstock Breeders' and Horse Owners' Association of Ireland, further reforms necessary for the welfare of racing in this country will be effected. The officers are:—

President, Viscount Adare; vice-president, Major A. H. Watt; hon. secretary, Mr. A. P. Harris, Athassal, Golden, Cashel; hon. treasurer, Mr. P. J. Henehan, Fethard. Executive committee—Mrs. A. H. Watt, Messrs. D. Slattery, Walter F. Dwyer, C. J. Kerin, T. A. Morris, W. O'Grady, T. Hyde, T. F. Ryan, and Surgeon J. F. O'Connor.

G. BLACKWELL DEAD

George Blackwell, who trained Rock Sand to win the 2,000 Guineas, Derby, and St. Leger in 1903, and Sergeant Murphy to win the Grand National 20 years later, died yesterday at Newmarket, aged 81. The only other trainer to have won the Derby and Grand National is R. C. Dawson, who won the big 'chase with Drogheda and the Derby with Fifinella, Trigo, and Blenheim.

Blackwell introduced the famous American jockey, the late Danny Maher, to England. Maher rode Rock Sand in all his classic successes.

COMPANY MEETING.

COURTAULDS, LIMITED

STATEMENT BY THE CHAIRMAN

The twenty-ninth ordinary general meeting of Courtaulds, Ltd., will be held at 16 St. Martin's le Grand, London, E.C.1, on Friday, September 25, 1942.

Mr. Samuel Courtauld, Chairman of the Company, has issued a statement to stockholders, which will take the place of the usual address made at the meeting. The statement is as follows:—

My Board have agreed that it is desirable to follow the procedure adopted last year, and have the chairman's address to the stockholders printed and circulated with the balance sheet. Therefore, it will not be necessary for me to address you at length at the annual general meeting. As announced on February 26, 1942, the directors of Courtaulds, Ltd., decided to postpone their annual general meeting until the award of the Arbitration Tribunal in connection with the sale of a large part of the company's American Viscose Corporation holding to His Majesty's Government in March, 1941, has been made known. Before the sale Courtaulds, Ltd., held about 96 p.c. of the shares. They were allowed to retain about 5 p.c., and requested to part with approximately 91 p.c. From a purely balance sheet point of view, the effect of the transaction has been as follows:—

COMPANY'S POSITION

The original investment of 96 p.c. of the shares of the Corporation was carried in the company's books at the low figure of £16,192,384, whereas 96 p.c. of the value of the net assets of the Corporation—excluding goodwill—as carried in its books was approximately £31,000,000; the sum awarded in July last for 91 p.c. of the shares was £27,125,000. After a book value had been placed by the directors upon the remaining 5 p.c. of the shares—which the company was allowed to retain — a capital surplus arose in the English company's books amounting to £11,124,094, and this amount has been added to the company's general reserves. The whole sum awarded has been invested in British Government Securities. On the other hand, your Board regret as keenly as ever the loss of an undertaking of enormous potential value, situated in the richest market in the world, as well as all that that meant in the way of international prestige and the spreading of interests. As already announced, your directors do not contemplate any kind of distribution to the stockholders at present. Even should they desire to make one there would be many difficulties in that way. They feel, however, that the reasons in favour of husbanding their capital resources are overwhelmingly strong. Nobody knows what will be required for reconstruction, rehabilitation, and the tying-up of broken ends after the war. In addition, there are likely to be many fresh and important openings in the rapidly evolving field of textiles generally, synthetic fibres, and allied industries, for those who have the foresight and energy to seize them and the wherewithal in hand. Courtaulds, Ltd., may well have the chance of regaining their outstanding position in world industry, of which they have been temporarily deprived.

TAXATION QUESTION

As to the effect of this sale of the company's American Viscose Corporation holding upon the company's excess profits tax position, the profit standard of the American Viscose Corporation, which came into the Courtaulds group for excess profits tax purposes, was a favourable one, and this will no longer form part of the standard of the group. On the other hand, of course, the proportionate profits of the American Viscose Corporation will no longer come in for assessment. It is not possible to say to what extent, if any, this changed position may be detrimental to your company over the whole period of excess profits tax. On the other hand it appears that the net income from the new Gilt-edged investments, not being subject to excess profits tax, or to National Defence contribution, may not differ materially from the net income which would probably have been received from America during periods of high taxation there had the original American investment remained undisturbed. Turning to the 1941 accounts, stockholders will notice that the transfer to contingencies reserve in 1940 has not been repeated in 1941, but that the "carry forward" has been increased by £171,000. The course of business for the year 1941—always excepting the sale of the A.V.C. holding—was much as anticipated when we circulated our statement to the stockholders in February of that year.

As regards 1942, the first six months have been busy so far as restriction of production and sales brought about by the various Government controls to which the whole textile industry is subject has allowed. The tendency of restrictions is to grow tighter all the time. Nevertheless, it seems fairly certain, so far as anything can be considered certain in these times, that the company will earn its excess profits tax standard of profit for the current year, and that the net distributable income will not be far different from what it was for the year 1941.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Wednesday.—The Stock market opened quiet, but prices were steady. Trading was narrow during the morning, and a few of the leaders were lower. The recent selective demand seemed to have spent itself, although towards midday an assortment of specialities made minor gains. Buying was restrained by the wide difference in the Tax Bill and the anti-inflation programme. With the exception of heaviness in the Merchandising section, the leaders were stable, and a number of specialities registered gains of fractions to more than a point. The trend at the close was irregular. The turnover of 378,000 shares comprised 648 issues, of which 255 advanced, 189 declined, and 194 remained unchanged.

OTHER EXCHANGES

MANCHESTER.—Bleachers, 6/- to 6/6; Dyers, 10/- to 10/6; "Slubbers," 4/3 to 4/9; Calicoes, 8/3 to 8/6; Coats, 37/9 to 38/3; Courtaulds, 37/9 to 38/3; Dunlops, 29/3 to 29/9; Cottons, 29/6 to 30/-; Velvets, 4/6 to 5/-; Spinners, 11/9 to 12/-; Henrys, 12/3 to 12/9; Turner and Newall, 68/6 to 69/6; Wallpaper Deferred, 28/- to 29/-.

BIRMINGHAM.—Motors supported. Alvis, Ford, Rover, Singer all strong. New Hudson recovered 47/-, and Halfords jumped to 56/6. Triplex lower at 30/3. Alvis, 4/7; Austin "A," 16/3; Dennis, 20/6; Dunlop, 29/6; Enfield, 19/3; Ford, 29/1½; Humber, 13/3; Leyland, 64/-; Lucas, 68/9; Morris, 34/3; Napier, 6/3; Raleigh, 65/3; Rolls Royce, 92/6; Rover, 19/6; Singer, 4/10½; Standard, 19/-; Tubes, 87/10½.

LONDON MONEY MARKET

The more normal credit conditions, restored by heavier T.D.R. borrowing, were maintained in Lombard Street yesterday. There was an adequate supply of money to meet the market's requirements, and a certain amount of outside money at ¾ p.c. was still available, but there was far less evidence of surplus fund than last week.

EMERGENCY POWERS (CONTROL OF PRICES) (No. 156) ORDER, 1942.
MAXIMUM PRICES OF CHEESE.

Notice is hereby given that the Minister for Supplies has revoked the Emergency Powers (Control of Prices) (No. 150) Order, 1942 (S.R. and O. No. 326 of 1942), and has made an Order, entitled as above, revising the maximum price for cheese.

The effect of the new Order is as follows:

(a) To increase the retail price of all types by 2d. per lb.

(b) To increase the producer's and wholesaler's prices by 19/- per cwt. In the case of truckles (whole cheese not exceeding 14 lbs. in weight) a further 4/8 per cwt. may be added to the producer's and wholesaler's prices.

(c) To make prices for processed cheese chargeable by manufacturer, producer or wholesale merchant to retail merchant, and prices for Cheddar cheese chargeable by wholesale merchant F.O.R. prices.

(d) To permit wholesale merchants to add ½d. per lb. to the scheduled prices when processed cheese is sold in quantities less than those normally packed in a case by the manufacturer or producer.

Copies of the Order will be on sale shortly.

(2) EMERGENCY POWERS (RATIONING OF YARN, CLOTH AND CLOTHING) ORDER, 1942 (TEMPORARY AMENDMENTS ORDER), 1942.

The Minister for Supplies has made Orders, entitled as above, which make certain alterations in the Clothes Rationing Order, consequential upon revisions announced some time ago in the coupon values for certain rationed goods.

The first-mentioned Order prohibits the sale of rationed goods belonging to traders by public auction, except where the Minister by permit so authorises, and it requires auctioneers to collect coupons for rationed goods sold by auction, and to deliver them to the Minister for Supplies within 14 days of the auction.

COFFEE AND ROLLS

The continental form of breakfast is becoming popular in many households, now that bacon has changed from the universal breakfast food to a weekly treat. Bread and marmalade, with tea or coffee, is now the main body of the meal, while the wage-earners are sometimes the only members of the family to be given a cooked meal.

The practice of eating a hot breakfast, however, dies hard in some homes, but the ration of bacon in these cases remains as small as ever, and menu-planning is occupying the minds of housewives, who, in former times, served bacon and eggs and porridge to their families every day of the week. Sausages are a welcome substitute, and take the place of bacon, with fried bread and eggs, while easily-cooked fish, such as finnan haddock, is also another popular breakfast dish.

Restaurants seldom refuse a request for bacon, but in most cases the ration is one rasher per person, and there are now various combinations of fried foods on the menu for high teas and luncheons which do not include bacon, such as fried potato bread and tomatoes, egg and chips, and liver and chips.

LABOUR MANAGEMENT

The Institute of Labour Management held its first monthly meeting of the session at the Civics Institute, Dublin, on Tuesday last, when Mrs. E. M. Maguire, B.A., A.I.H.A., read a paper on "The Training of Students for Labour Management," after which there was a discussion. Mr. H. N. B. Palmer, M.Inst.L.M., was in the chair, and he explained to new members that the institute was a professional association of people in welfare work, staff management and employment administration. It conducted research into matters concerning employment, trade, industry and business, with a study of working conditions, health and safety of workers and the co-operation of employed and employers.

HATS FROM IRISH FELT

The majority of the cheaper felt hats on sale in the shops are Irish made, from felt manufactured in this country. During the last twelve months the supply of imported felt hoods has considerably decreased, and the price has risen to almost double the pre-war figure for those that are available.

Irish women need have no fear, however, that they may have to go hatless; for the representative of a large hat manufacturing firm said yesterday that there were ample stocks in the country to ensure a normal supply.

Both wool and fur felts are made in Ireland, but the latter are more scarce. Nevertheless, the manufacturers in this country are more than able to make up the deficiency caused by the restricted imports.

Madagascar

It was reported yesterday that the Governor-General of Madagascar, Monsieur Armand Annet, had sent emissaries to the commander of the British troops on the island asking for a suspension of hostilities. Thus, another unhappy episode in the history of Anglo-French relations has been closed. Since the collapse of France and the establishment of the Pétain régime relations between the former Republic and its British allies have been strained severely; and nobody really has been to blame. The French, rightly or wrongly, signed an armistice with Germany, according to the terms of which they undertook certain obligations. One of them was the defence of the French colonial Empire against all possible aggressors, whether or not those aggressors might happen to be friends of France, but enemies of Germany. When General de Gaulle attempted to make a landing at Dakar, relying upon the support of the local French population, he found that the representatives of the French Government were determined to carry out the terms of the armistice to the letter; and, after preliminary parleys, he decided to retire. Then there was the case of Syria. Here again, the local officials, acting on instructions from Vichy, refused to allow the British to occupy the country without opposition. Many lives, French and British, were lost before the French garrison was forced to surrender, and a certain amount of bitterness was created between the former allies, who, by force of circumstances, found themselves on opposite sides. Precisely the same situation arose in the case of Madagascar. Some time ago the British occupied Diego Suarez, having overcome a certain amount of French opposition; and last week they decided to take possession of the whole island in order to prevent it from being used as an advance base by the Japanese. Once more the French officials were loyal to their home Government, and when the British landed at various points along the coast they met with stiff resistance. According to British reports, these landings were made under cover of darkness at widely separated points. Everything possible was done to avoid unnecessary bloodshed; but, in the nature of things, lives were lost before the British forces were able to establish their positions on the island. They had reached a point only about a hundred miles from Antananarivo, the capital of Madagascar, when the French Governor-General, realising that further opposition was hopeless, decided to ask for a cessation of hostilities.

From the British point of view the incident is almost as unpleasant as it is from the French. War is a cruel business. Every belligerent must look after its own interests, and there is no doubt at all that the British were genuinely alarmed at the possibility that Japan might seize Madagascar and use it eventually as a base for an attack on South Africa. Similar considerations were responsible for the British Government's decision to attack the French Fleet at Mers-el-Kebir, to invade Syria, and to bomb the Renault works outside Paris. The British always have made it clear that they were acting in no spirit of hostility towards France, whom they still regard, if not as their ally, at least as their friend; but the French, who are in a helpless position, hardly can be blamed if they feel aggrieved at what they regard as acts of military aggression. The worsening of relations between Great Britain and France has been one of the major tragedies of this war. It was an inevitable corollary to the conquest of France by the Germans, and the decision of the British to continue the fight alone. Everybody who knows France must sympathise deeply with her in her present position. She is bound by the armistice terms to resist all attacks on her colonial Empire. The British are equally bound, in the interests of their own cause, to take what they consider to be essential precautions against the possible use of French territory by their enemies. In these circumstances misunderstandings are inevitable, and the situation has become so much involved that the British and French peoples have come to regard each other rather as enemies than as friends. Apparently as a result of the Madagascar affair, the French Government has summoned a number of colonial officials, including General Nogues, the Governor-General of Morocco, to a conference at Vichy this week. Evidently Monsieur Laval anticipates further attacks on French territory by the British—and, possibly, also by the Americans; and the British guarantee that His Majesty's Government has no designs upon Madagascar, which will be restored eventually to full French sovereignty, seems to have done nothing to conciliate French susceptibilities.

Parliamentary Etiquette

Sir Stafford Cripps has complained about members of the British House of Commons leaving the Chamber while Mr. Winston Churchill's speech on the war was in progress recently, and another M.P., in a letter to The Times, has tried to explain the small attendances at Westminster recently. The etiquette of parliament is not the etiquette of the drawing-room. While it is possible for a member to invest his departure with an air of offensiveness, it is not considered rude that he should leave the Chamber just whenever he cares to go, no matter who is speaking. That applies to Leinster House, where most of the procedure is modelled upon the Mother of Parliaments, as well as to Westminster, Stormont, and several other assemblies in the Commonwealth of Nations. It used to be regarded as polite that a speaker should remain in the House until the following speaker had concluded, but nowadays none but back-benchers are scrupulous in observing that courtesy. Many front-benchers, when they have said their piece, sweep together their papers, bow to the Chair, and depart from the place, as much as to say: "I've had my say and I don't care tuppence about the views of anybody else." While precedent may have presented members of Parliament with privileges that would seem impolite elsewhere, they have responsibilities to their country and to their constituents. No matter how important their other engagements may seem to them, they are paid to be in the House, to listen to debates and, at times, to endure an amount of boring rhetoric. At present, in England, those who are engaged in war work may find it necessary to curtail their attendances at Westminster, though it would appear that a member whose war work was so important that he could not sit through an important speech by his Prime Minister would be more patriotic if he devoted all his time to that work and allowed somebody else to have his seat in Parliament and the emoluments attached thereto. Many times the members of Dail Eireann introduce a robustness of thought and expression that is not in keeping with either personal or parliamentary dignity. Yet, to their credit, it is seldom, indeed, that one of them leaves the Chamber while Mr. de Valera is making an important speech. Mr. de Valera may have a more compelling presence than Mr. Churchill, but it is scarcely likely that this is the only explanation.

THE Marchioness of Waterford and her son, the Marquess of Waterford, who were staying in Dublin this week, have returned to Portlaw, County Waterford.

CYCLE TYRES FOR GARDAI

A quota of bicycle tyres and tubes is to be made available to members of the Civic Guards. This is as result of representations made some months ago by the Representative Body to the appropriate Governmental authority. It is suggested that the quota to be released for sale to the Guards is too limited to provide for the needs of those not in receipt of cycling allowances, and could be responsible for considerable hardship in the Dublin Metropolitan area.

CHEESE TO BE DEARER

The retail price of all kinds of cheese will be increased by 2d. a lb., following a new Government Order, the terms of which may be seen in our advertising columns. Producer's and wholesaler's prices will be increased by 19s. a cwt. The Order permits wholesale merchants to add ½d. a lb. to the scheduled prices when processed cheese is sold in quantities less than those normally packed in a case by manufacturer or producer.

RETAIL TRADE PROBLEMS

Mr. A. C. McLoughlin, General Secretary of the Irish Retail Traders' Protective Association, yesterday had an interview with the Prices Commission, and made suggestions for ending the difficulties, which, he said, were forcing provision merchants to close their doors. He said that a joint conference of transport companies, merchants, the Prices Commission, and the Department of Supplies should be held, with a view to working out a system of general co-operation.

A DISCLAIMER

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES

SIR,—With reference to a report in your issue of yesterday regarding the Conference of the Association of Municipal Authorities, at which a gentleman was quoted as having said that the absence of the Minister for Local Government and Public Health was "the negation of democracy," Mr. MacEntee desires me to say, for the information of your readers, that it is not customary for the Minister to attend such a function, and there is no obligation whatever upon him to do so. After each conference the members' recommendations and the results of their deliberations generally are forwarded by them to the Minister for his consideration. Subsequently representatives of the Association are received in the Department and the matters raised at the conference fully discussed. Clearly it is not necessary for the Minister to be present at discussions which are concerned with defining the attitude of local bodies on public matters vis-à-vis the Department, any more than it is necessary for him to attend the meetings of local bodies.

The General Council of County Councils, an analogous body, carries on deliberations not less important without considering that there is any need for the Minister to be present.—Yours, etc.,

B. O NUALLAIN,
Rúnaí Aire.
Office of the Minister for Local Government and Public Health, Dublin, C. 8,

RETAIL PRICES ORDER

Attention is drawn to the summary of maximum retail prices fixed by Order made by the Minister for Supplies, which appears in our advertising columns to-day, and, in particular, to the prices of jams and marmalades. These prices apply to all marmalades, including those known as home-made, as well as jams and marmalades sold under proprietary brands. Certain traders appear to be under the misapprehension that home-made jams are not covered by the price order, and the Department has found it necessary in some cases to prosecute traders for infringement of the Order.

MORE PAPER WANTED

The house-to-house waste paper collectors are receiving occasional sets back in the generally upward trend of their results. Yesterday, for example, the team working the Drimnagh district obtained paper at only two houses out of the 150 visited. At most of the other houses they were told either that the occupant did not collect paper, or that it had been given to unofficial collectors.

The management of the Wastepaper Company, Ltd., wishes to remind the public that the only people who are legally entitled to collect paper at private houses in Dublin are their collectors. Though there has been a gradual improvement in most areas, the results are not as good as they should be. Even in the best districts the collectors obtain paper at only about 12 or 15 houses out of every 100 visited.

LONDON LETTER

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

AMONG the strangest jobs in London is that of statue washer. It might have been supposed that, since in war-time many of London's statues have been removed to the country for safety, the washers would have been without a job. Such, however, is not the case. They follow the statues around the provinces and continue to keep them in a state of respectability for the day when they may return to the city. It appears that when a man has been washing statues for years and years he comes to know all its idiosyncrasies, and gets a kind of affection for it, similar to that of a woman who washes someone else's baby.

Quinine Substitutes

Most of the world's supply of natural quinine being in the hands of the Japanese, Britain's medical authorities are considering themselves lucky to have a substitute, particularly as West African demands are greater owing to the increase in the number of malaria cases. The British substitute is called mepacrine. The oldest substitute for quinine is plasmochrin, which came from Germany. The Americans have a substitute called atrabine, which is manufactured under a former German process. Before the war it was difficult to find a place on the market for this product in competition with natural quinine. Now, however, the production of this drug amounts to about 500,000,000 tablets a year, which is estimated to be enough to deal with 33 million cases of malaria.

Listowel, Canada

Many years ago the people of Listowel, Ireland, founded the town of Listowel in Canada. To-day Lady Listowel went down to Dover to present that town with an ambulance, the money for which was subscribed by the people of Canadian Listowel. A Hungarian by birth, Lady Listowel has been lecturing on education for the British Ministry of Information. Once while engaged on a lecture she met a Canadian and asked him if he had ever heard of Listowel in Canada. He replied: "I ought to. I was stranded in it one night. I knocked at the door of a house. I got a meal. I liked the house. I liked the daughter of the house. I married her, so I ought to know Listowel."

Unofficial Aquaria

The children of London are trying to improve on the emergency water tanks in the city. In one area they have begun to turn the tanks into aquaria without waiting for official approval. One tank has been well stocked from the local ponds. It has a covering of duckweed, and is well supplied with stickleback and roach. The children fish for the stickleback through the wire netting which has been stretched over the tops of the tanks for safety. The wire netting originally was provided to keep too-enterprising children from falling into the tanks. Now they run about on the top of the netting. Unfortunately, however, the children's efforts to breed fish will be frustrated by unsympathetic officials, who kill off the fish as often as the tanks are cleaned.

AN IRISHMAN'S DIARY

Champion Colts

Windsor Slipper is expected to win the Irish St. Leger to-day. Then he will go to the stud, unbeaten. His dam is, of course, the noted Carpet Slipper, for which 14,000 guineas was paid last autumn, and which also is at the Brownstown Stud of Mr. J. McGrath.

Another of Carpet Slipper's progeny, Godiva, was unbeaten when she met with a fatal accident in this country, and there is a filly of hers at Brownstown.

The year's best two-year-old, The Phœnix, will not appear at to-day's meeting, Mr. F. S. Myerscough having decided to reserve him for next year's engagements, which include the Guineas, Derby and St. Leger. It is not unlikely that he will turn out to be another notable horse.

Windsor Slipper is a small horse in appearance, but, according to measurements which appeared in the Irish Field last week, he is as big as The Phœnix (which looks very big) and is bigger than Whirlaway, Sun Chariot, Alsab and Hyperides.

Few Straw Hats

I saw only two straw hats in the summer now closing rapidly (writes a correspondent). One was worn by Dick Power, the Waterford bookmaker, and the other appeared on the head of a mysterious Dublin stranger, who also wore canvas shoes.

It would have been a very poor season for the children who used to keep a tab on the straw hats they "spied," and boast about their scores to other urchins. The procedure when a straw was seen was to cry, "I spy a straw-boiler, one, two, three, up my sleeve." The "spy" then blew up his or her sleeve, and no one else, in the party, could claim that straw hat.

Very silly, no doubt, but no sillier than the "beaver" game, in which many adults indulged twenty years ago. In that game, beards were counted, with a sliding scale of points. There even was a book published on the scoring. Top marks, as far as I remember, were given for a man with a red beard riding a green bicycle and carrying a ladder.

Three Dances

We seem to be restricted to three dances in Dublin—the waltz, the slow fox-trot and the ordinary fox-trot. Occasionally a one-step is thrown in for the entertainment of the more agile, but the tango is a rare treat, and such items as the "pally glide" are offered on only hilarious occasions.

Mind you, I suspect that some of the band offerings to which the dancers fox-trot really are meant to be other things, but Dublin people don't bother about details like that. Waltzing is no longer a matter of spinning around cheerfully, but is a sort of walk in waltz time.

I didn't realise how terribly we offended against the canons of what is right and proper in a terpsichorean sense till I danced with a Belfast visitor recently. She told me about all our imperfections. However, I probably will continue to waltz and fox-trot only, and indifferently at that.

London "Star."

Since her early girlhood days it has been the ambition of Miss Margaret Rowan to become a "star" before the footlights, and when very young she began her ascent of the ladder of fame by learning the various phases of the dancing art in Dublin.

That she has succeeded in realising her dream is now without question; for she is to fill the principal rôle in the forthcoming London production of Oscar Asche's famous musical comedy, "Chu Chin Chow"—a rôle filled in the halcyon days of the theatre by the fascinating Lily Brayton.

Congratulations are due to Miss Rowan's father, a journalist, who spent many years in Dublin on the staffs of the Irish Independent and the Freeman's Journal. Mr. Rowan is a native of Kilkenny.

NATIONAL MUSEUM

SOME NEW ADDITIONS

An interesting and important addition to the steadily growing collection of Irish wood carving in the Art Section of the National Museum is a Pieta group which has been acquired through a well-known Dublin dealer. The work is in polychrome wood carving, in all probability after a Spanish prototype of the early sixteenth century, interesting features being the disproportion in the size of the figure of the Blessed Virgin and that of the Saviour lying on her knees. Nothing is known of the history of the piece, but it is very characteristic of crude art, the colours, which have been partly repainted, being well preserved. Particularly arresting is the fashion in which the hair and beard of the Dead Saviour have been treated, this being very similar to the hair treatment found in contemporary ivory figures from Germany already in possession of the Museum.

LADY HAMILTON

The additions include also relics of Lady Hamilton. "She is very pretty and sings delightfully," was the description of Lady Hamilton, written to his mother by Captain John Moutray from his ship Romulus, lying at Leghorn, in October, 1793. The letter is one of a number of papers and other objets d'art which have been presented to the Museum by Miss A. Coulson, of Lower Beechwood avenue, Ranelagh, Dublin. Captain Moutray, in this particular letter, tells of visits to various ports in the Mediterranean, including that of Naples, where there was an eruption of Vesuvius during his visit—not a dangerous outbreak, but inspiring and awful to see.

The papers include a marriage contract between Captain John Moutray of Roscobie, Fife, and Miss Mary Pemble, of Berwick, in 1771. There are also the Commission appointing John Moutray Commander-in-Chief in the Barbadoes; a marriage settlement between Archdeacon De Lacy and Miss Moutray, from whom the donor is descended. Mrs. De Lacy died early, and her brother was killed in action with Lord Nelson.

There are miniatures of the Moutray family with portraits of Mr. and Mrs. Pemble, of Berwick, at the time of their marriage in 1745; a miniature of Mrs. Mary Moutray (née Pemble), of Kells, Co. Meath, who had contacts with the Coulson and Edgeworth families, and was a personal friend of the novelist, Maria Edgeworth. Miss Coulson still has in her possession letters of Miss Edgeworth and Lord Nelson.

Three classical heads in period frames, done by Mrs. De Lacy, exemplify the kind of drawing-room art cultivated by ladies in the late eighteenth century, and there are some pieces of Dresden ware with the Moutray initials, and an interesting box, in tortoiseshell inlaid with gold, presented to Captain Moutray when he was leaving Mauritius.

SCHOOL OF PRINTING

The courses in printing and book production in the Bolton Street Technical Institute, the syllabus for which has just been issued, cover the whole range of the trade. Practical and theoretical bookwork, the operation of linotype, monotype, and intertype machinery, and the understanding of their mechanism; stationery and letterpress, binding and gilding, are some of the sections of the course. Office work, display, design, and Irish are also included.

CHILDREN'S FILMS

SUGGESTED MATINEES

The cinema, in relation to children, was an immense power, capable of good or ill, which could not be ignored, and something would have to be done about it. It was to be hoped that co-operation between the Irish Film Society and the cinema trade would result in the establishment of regular matinées of real entertainment value for the children of Eire. This opinion was expressed by Mr. Oliver Bell, director of the British Film Institute, at last night's public meeting in the Supper Room of the Mansion House, Dublin, under the auspices of the Children's Committee of the Irish Film Society. Representatives of the film trade, the Department of Education and the schools attended, and District Justice Kenneth Reddin presided.

Mr. Bell said that there was little or no connection between films and juvenile crime. The child was always ready to give the magistrate a quick answer, and frequently ascribed to films delinquencies which had nothing to do with the cinema at all. Children, as a rule, were bored with love scenes. They disliked cruelty, and anything which frightened them should be avoided. "They could easily be frightened by some of the Disney films," he said.

Mr. Ernest Blythe confessed that he had a special interest in the Irish language side of the matter, and he thought that without the aid of films there was no hope for a language revival. The Government should institute a film service similar to the radio service. If they started making films for children they would go on to bigger things and put this country on the map as far as the cinema was concerned.

Mr. C. B. Parker, secretary of the Children's Film Committee, said that it was intended to extend this new movement to the provinces as soon as they got it properly going in Dublin. Negotiations for special film shows for children had been entered into with a number of Dublin cinemas, and they had received three offers. The committee had also been assured of the co-operation of the Department of Education. They were also setting up a teachers' group, and he asked all those teachers present to join it.

Mr. J. T. O'Farrell said that he did not think that the making of films should be State controlled.

DUBLIN OPERATIC SOCIETY

Gounod's "Faust" drew a big audience when presented by the Dublin Operatic Society at the Olympia Theatre, Dublin, last night. It was a very satisfying production. Francis Russell sang and acted the title rôle with impelling urge, his rendering of the opening scene and the big aria "All hail!" in the garden scene being especially fine. Veronica Keary, reappearing after a few years' absence from the company, scored a great success as Marguerite. Her voice has filled out wonderfully, and she built up a grand climax in the final act. Jack Harte read and sang the rôle of Mephistopheles admirably. Betty Byrne must have surprised everyone with the artistry of her performance as Siebel. Her two arias were beautifully rendered. Stephen Black (Wagner) and Gertrude Andrews (Martha) and Jean Bertin (Valentine) completed an excellent team. The choral work was on a high plane, especially in the Kermesse scene and in the Soldiers' Chorus. Orchestrally, the work was beautifully read and directed by Mr. Arthur Hammond.

To-night—"Madam Butterfly."

KILL ACID AND END CONSTIPATION

When your stomach is full of excess acid it simply cannot digest your food. Every mouthful sours—your whole meal lies in your stomach a fermenting, lumpy mass. You get wind, nausea, heartburn—CONSTIPATION. Constipation imprisons the poisonous and waste matter inside your bowels, soaks your whole system with acid and starts the vicious circle of torture all over again.

But you can break free if, first, you get rid of the acid.

For years doctors have been recommending the safe brand of antacid 'Milk of Magnesia' as a laxative because it has a double action. The acid in the system is killed. More important still, the bowel is gently relaxed and both cause and effect of constipation move gently out of the system. With the bowels regular and the stomach free from acid, stomach, liver, and bowels have a chance to do their job.

So remember that constipation and bad digestion are both due to excess acid. As soon as there is the slightest hint of too much acid, take a spoonful of 'Milk of Magnesia.' Do it for several days and watch how appetite improves, how much more regular you are. And you will wonder how anything so bland and gentle can be so promptly effective. 'Milk of Magnesia' is the trade mark of Phillips' preparation of Magnesia. There is nothing else like it. Try it to-day: you'll be delighted. Obtainable everywhere, 1/3 and 2/6 (treble size), also in tablet form. 'Milk of Magnesia' brand Tablets, 6d., 1/-, 2/- and 3/6. Each tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of the liquid preparation.

EMERGENCY POWERS (RATIONING OF BUTTER) (NO. 1) ORDER, 1942

NOTICE is hereby given that the Minister for Supplies has made the above-mentioned Order controlling the purchase and sale of butter in the Count Borough of Dublin, the Administrative County of Dublin, and the Urban Distric of Bray.

The Order applies to all butter, whether creamery or non-creamery, with th exception of butter exchanged for a Food Voucher issued by the State or a Loc Authority.

Copies of the Order will be on sale shortly.

DOMESTIC CONSUMERS.

Domestic consumers in the areas mentioned are again warned that they shoul register for butter with a shopkeeper by lodging with him the whole of Page 1 (lettered F) of the Ration Book duly completed. They may not obtain butter from any person other than the shopkeeper with whom they are registered.

INSTITUTIONS, CATERING ESTABLISHMENTS AND MANUFACTURERS.

As from the 28th instant, institutions, catering establishments and persons, who use butter for manufacturing purposes, if situated in, or carrying on business in the areas mentioned, may not obtain butter except under permit.

Institutions and catering establishments must be registered with the Department of Supplies, under the Emergency Powers (Registration of Catering Establishments and Institutions) Order, 1942, in order to qualify for permits. Forms of application for permits will be posted in due course to the registered institutions and catering establishments, and should be completed and returned by them immediately.

Persons who require butter for manufacturing purposes should apply at once to the Department of Supplies, Ballsbridge, Dublin, for a form of application for a permit.

TRADERS.

As from the 28th instant, also, all traders in the three areas are prohibited from purchasing butter except under permit. Permits will not be issued to them to purchase butter from any person or firm outside these areas.

Traders must be licensed in order to qualify for a permit, and those who have not yet applied for licences should do so at once.

Shopkeepers must cancel the coupons attached to the ration pages lodged with them by endorsing with an indelible pencil or indelible ink on the butter coupons applicable to each week the mark X.

Coupons marked F.1 should be cancelled for the butter supplied in the week commencing Saturday, the 19th instant, and coupons marked F.2 for the week commencing the following Saturday, and so on. The cancellation is done by endorsing with indelible pencil or indelible ink the mark X on the coupons.

Coupons should not be cancelled in respect of any butter supplied prior to the 19th instant.

The cancelled coupons should not be detached from the ration pages until further notice.

It has come to the notice of the Department that certain shopkeepers are refusing to register their customers for butter unless they are also registered with them for tea or sugar. Shopkeepers are warned that they are obliged under the Order to accept applications for registration made before the 19th instant by any person or member of a household of a person who ordinarily purchased butter from them.
